

DAEMIEN HO

JUNIOR FULL STACK DEVELOPER

Summary

My name is Daemien Ho. I am a young developer that uses Ruby(on Rails) as fundamental programming language. before my programming career I worked the hostility branch and played football on a professional level as I aspired to be a professional football player. As any other programmer I like to spend time behind my computer learning new skills. I also like playing football, chess, guitar and many other things. What I can tell about myself is that I'm a hard/creative worker. My ambitions now are to keep on learning in order to be a programming master or a self employed developer
